SUPPORT OUR SEMINARIANS

Quid retribuam Domino pro omnibus, quae retribuit mihi? Calicem salutaris accipiam et nomini Domini invocabo. What return shall I make to the Lord for all that He has given to me? I will take the chalice of salvation, and I shall call upon the name of the Lord.

These words, taken from the psalms and our venerable rite of Holy Mass could not be a more perfect expression of my own longings; a conversion to the one true Faith as a young teenager, the ability to frequent the sacraments of penance and Holy Communion, and especially the ability to attend and serve the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass in such a parish as this have been greatest gifts given to me. How could I not desire to give myself completely to Him in return? How could I not strive to submit myself to Him completely and do His will in all things? It has been slowly made clearer to me that it would bring more glory to God to do this in the Priestly Fraternity of Saint Peter (FSSP), where I would be able to receive a solid formation and, as a priest, live in community to sing the psalms of the Divine Office and assist each other in growing in virtue. However, the seminary of the FSSP requires their seminarians to support financially their own formation and discernment. I will be most grateful for any assistance that could be offered, and I promise many prayers in return. Please feel free to ask me any questions after Holy Mass today. Thank you!

-Mr. Curtis Zuckerman

SERVITE DOMINO IN TIMORE

Thank you for a generous response of donations for Women Determined! We were able to fill our donation bin to the top. Your charity will accomplish much good for those in need!

Today, August 25, is the feast day of St. Louis IX of France. He is the principal patron of our Archdiocese. St. Louis was born in 1214 and was crowned king at the age of 12. His mother acted as regent of France until Louis reached sufficient age. From his earliest days, she instilled in him a love for the things of God and a hatred for sin. Famously, she said to him, "I would rather see you dead at my feet than fall into moral sin." With his wife, Marguerite, he raised 11 children and was zealous for their sanctity. His desire to see the vindication of Christendom led him to sponsor two crusades for the defense of the Holy Land. In his kingly administrations he was known as a lover of peace. His statesmanship sought not only to avoid war, but to remove the political conditions for war as well. Toward the Church he was a defender of the clergy against the encroachments of the barons as well as a clerical reformer, rooting out simony. In private he was devout, prayerful and penitent. In public he was known for his keen sense of justice and his patronage of sacred architecture (e.g., Sainte Chappelle and the Sorbonne college). He brought the crown of thorns to Paris where it still resides. He did not seclude himself among the nobility, rather he daily fed 100 homeless, founded hospitals and established homes for reformed prostitutes, and for the blind. In your kindness, please invoke the prayers of St. Louis for our city and our Archdiocese.

-Fr. O'Brien
