HOLY FACE DEVOTION

Please join members of the New Orleans 3rd Order Discalced Carmelites in observance of the "Holy Face Devotion" to offer prayers of reparation for blasphemies against God, the neglect of keeping Sundays holy, and against Communism. The prayers will be recited on the 4th Sunday of each month following the 11 am Mass (12:30 pm if a baptism is scheduled). Pope Blessed Pius IX: "Reparation is a work destined to save society."

Sr. Mary of St. Peter, to whom the Holy Face Devotion was revealed (with Ecclesiastical approval), writes in 1847: "Our Lord commanded me to make war on the Communists because He said that they were the enemies of the Church and of her Christ." Contact Ryan at 504-296-4410 for more information.

HURRICANE PRAYER

Our Father in Heaven,
through the intercession of Our Lady of Prompt Succor,
spare us during this hurricane season
from all harm.
Protect us and our homes
from all disasters of nature.
Our Lady of Prompt Succor, hasten to help us.
We ask this through Christ our Lord.

St. Patrick's Church to Host Visit of International Fatima Statue

St. Patrick's will be one of many churches in our area to host a Day of Prayer during the Visit of the International Pilgrim Statue of Fatima to New Orleans. On Sunday, July 18, the statue – designed according to the description of Fatima visionary St. Lucia – will be on display in our church. The Rosary will be prayed publicly at 10:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. In addition, a presentation will be offered regarding the image at noon. The image has been traveling the world since 1947. Many favors, including cures and conversions, are associated with the image.

SERVITE DOMINUM IN TIMORE

Today, I would like to continue my series of catechesis on the Blessed Sacrament. Allow me to highlight for you a few more passages from the New Testament. I hope that these passages will show you how the early Church quickly got into the practice of celebrating the Holy Mass and honoring Christ's gift with great reverence and sanctity of life.

The Gospel of Luke records the encounter of the unnamed disciples on the road to Emmaus. The whole passage of Luke 24:13-35 is worthy of meditation. For today, however, simply take notice of how our Lord, hidden from their recognition, draws nears to the disciples and first wants them to share all of their heart's deepest concerns, even their doubts (vv. 17-21). In preparing for the Mass, isn't it our duty to bring to Christ our whole selves and to place our lives upon the altar with Christ, especially those things which bring us suffering. On the road, the disciples struggle to understand the resurrection and so, the Lord explains both His sufferings and His resurrection to them using Sacred Scripture (vv. 22-27). We too are instructed by the readings of the Mass and enlightened by the preaching of the homily. Those disciples had the opportunity to go their way and return to their confusion, or invite the Lord to reveal more (vv. 28-29). Similarly, when the Mass proceeds with the Creed and the offertory, we can let our minds wander back to worldly concerns or we can ask the Lord to enter our lives more profoundly. We but need to echo those words of the disciples, "stay with us Lord" (v. 29). Once the invitation was made, the power of the Lord became manifest—He dines with them and when He breaks the bread, their eyes were opened and they recognized Jesus in His risen form. But yet, He vanished from their sight (vv. 30-31). Like those disciples, we too share in the mystery of the Breaking of the Bread. Like them, faith enables us to know the presence of the risen Christ because we partake in the same Bread that He broke, the bread that has become His real presence. Finally, like those disciples, we too must go out and proclaim this encounter to the world (v. 35). By looking closely at this passage, we see that even the same sacramental sequence of events that we pray at each Mass was already present in the Church on that very first Easter Sunday. This tells us that Christ was unhesitating in communicating the importance of the Eucharist to His Church.

The Acts of the Apostles shows us that Christ's message was well received. In chapter 2, it is made explicitly clear that the apostles knew the duty the Lord gave to them regarding the Eucharist. In verse 42 it is recorded, "They committed themselves ... to the breaking of the bread." This biblical source demonstrates that there was no time in the Church where the Eucharist was ever neglected.

St. Paul further clarifies that the "Breaking of the Bread" is truly our access to the Body and Blood of Christ when he says, "The cup of blessing that we bless, is it not a participation in the blood of Christ? The bread that we break, is it not a participation in the body of Christ?" (1 Cor 10:16). Paul also makes it clear that the Breaking of the Bread, known also as the Supper of the Lord, is different from just any meal (1 Cor 11:17-22). He tells the community to wait for one another before partaking (1 Cor 11:33).

Of utmost importance is St. Paul's instruction that the faithful should be worthy of partaking by examining themselves and discerning (1 Cor 11:27-29). This teaching is the basis for our understanding that a Catholic needs to be in the state of grace prior to receiving the Eucharist. In the Church's law, canon 915 codifies St. Paul's instruction and applies it toward those who display obstinate, manifest and grave sin. Much more needs to be said about this topic, especially with the additional attention it is getting in our own day. But, let us take this time as an opportunity to diligently inform ourselves, and be reminded that our convictions about the Most Blessed Sacrament are firmly rooted in biblical teaching.

FAMILY FUNDAMENTALS

"In human life, Joseph was Jesus' teacher in their daily contact, full of refined affection, glad to deny himself to take better care of Jesus. Isn't that reason enough for us to consider this just man, this holy patriarch, in whom the faith of the Old Covenant comes to full fruition, as a master of interior life? Interior life is nothing but continual and direct conversation with Christ, so as to become one with him. And Joseph can tell us many things about Jesus. Therefore, never neglect devotion to him—Ite ad Ioseph: "Go to Joseph"—as Christian tradition puts it in the words of the Old Testament (Gen 41:55)"

~St. Josemaria Escriva

As I continue reflecting on St. Joseph, in his glorious year, I find St. Josemaria Escriva's words particularly piercing. The thought of St. Joseph's everyday life with Christ, as a window to our own interior life, truly changes my perspective on the great worker. He was not an onlooker or a mere bystander in the story of salvation. St. Joseph actively participated in conversation with Him. He spent a great deal of time with Our Lord. In imitation of His earthly father, we too are called to strive. We are asked to persevere in an intimate relationship with Christ. In the words of Mother Teresa: "souls of prayer are souls of great silence." St. Joseph is not recorded uttering one word in the Gospels. May we imitate the great saint in silence and beg him for growth in our interior lives.

St. Joseph, help us reject being a bystander in our own lives. Teach us to participate in our own salvation through Him who gives us strength. Amen
