OUR FATHERS

Excerpt from Black Clad Lives Matter by Elizabeth A. Mitchell taken from The Catholic Thing December 27, 2022.

...who are these black-clad men? These warriors of grace, who flit in and out of our sacramental lives so seemingly unseen? Seamlessly, yes. But effortlessly? No. To be grace for us, their lives must be a constant sacrificial offering. Hidden, and often unacknowledged.

So, to you, black-clad men of our Church, we proclaim that you matter. Not with a mere slogan, but with genuine gratitude from those you have been called to serve.

Without you, consecrated priests, nothing. No Mass. No Eucharist. No absolution. No anointing. If you disappeared, we would be left to our lack, our poverty, our desert. You bring streams into the dry land and light where shadows reign. And to do so, you must fight many days against voices of doubt and mockery. Does it matter? This sacrifice I made? Does anyone see my exhaustion, my insecurity, my hopes, my fears, my overwhelming desire to serve Our Lord, to be His hands and feet, His heart?

Yes, dear priest! We see you.

And so, we thank you. For all the unspoken sacrifices, we thank you. For all the outpouring of love, we thank you. For all the polishing of brass and silver, arranging of the Nativity, lighting of the candles, sweeping of the corners, raising of the Host, we thank you. You are a brotherhood of heroes. Your black-clad lives matter.

You are "chosen from among mortals" and "put in charge of things pertaining to God" on our behalf. (Hebrews 5:1) And what you do, we cannot do. What you are, we are not. Through you, He makes "a way in the wilderness" of our lives and outpours "streams in the wasteland" of our wandering age. (Isaiah 43:19) You "must be called by God for this work." (Hebrews 5:4) Thank you for answering His call.

NEW PARISH STUDY ON PHILOSOPHY AND CATHOLICISM

Beginning February 1st, our parish will offer a study group focusing on philosophy. It will begin at 7 p.m. in the parish rectory and meet each Wednesday. The subject of this study will be the way that philosophy can help us to understand and defend the faith of the Church. Such a topic is important in understanding the fundamentals of the faith and defending it against newer, more fashionable ideas which may disagree or oppose the faith in the contemporary world. All are welcome! Please call the parish office for more information.

Prayers After Sunday Mass

Please join in

St. Michael the Archangel, defend us in battle; be our protection against the wickedness and snares of the Devil. May God rebuke him, we humbly pray; and do thou, O prince of the heavenly hosts, by the power of God, cast into Hell Satan, and all the evil spirits, who prowl throughout the world seeking the ruin of souls. Amen.

Sub Tuum Praesidium

We fly to thy patronage, O holy Mother of God; despise not our petitions in our necessities, but deliver us always from all dangers, O glorious and blessed Virgin. Amen.

SERVITE DOMINUM IN TIMORE

As we continue to learn from the spiritual reflections of St. Francis de Sales, today, I would like to summarize the remainder of his suggestions for a devout participation in the Holy Mass. Since the Mass is nothing short of the representation of the passion of Christ before our very eyes, de Sales vividly recalls the details of Christ's suffering and spiritually attributes to each one a signification for our prayer.

As we pray the Mass, de Sales recommends us to call upon each of the wounds of Christ and implore from the Lord a particular grace. Recall His wounded head, afflicted with the crown of thorns and ask for grace for those who lead the Body of Christ and for our own superiors. Recall the wound on our Lord's right hand and pray for those who are dear to us, family, friends and benefactors. From the wound on His left hand, beg the Lord to grant conversion to the enemies of the Church and those who oppose us even in small daily ways. For them we repeat Christ's prayer, "Father, forgive them, for they do not know what they do."

Recall the wounds on His sacred feet and pray for those you lead, including the souls in purgatory and the spiritually tormented. Bring before your mind's eye the wound in our Lord's side and make pilgrimage to His Sacred Heart, now opened for you. There, surrender to Him your own heart and seek the graces you need to imitate His divine love.

Praying about each of the wounds of Christ can be truly fruitful. In a similar way, we can prayerfully consider each of the events of Christ's passion to stir ourselves to a better imitation of Him. Recall His time in the Garden of Olives and the betrayal He endured. From this, we can derive the grace to surmount our passions and detach from the approval of others. Think about His time before His accusers and judges, Pilate and Herod. Just as His love for them was unfazed, so too do we pray for the grace to love our enemies. In the pardon of Barabbas, learn to love when our neighbor is preferred over ourselves.

Recall the crown of thorns and be reassured that just as our Lord's crown led to a crown of glory, so too will our afflictions bear fruit in eternal reward. At the Mass we witness again the Lord carrying the cross. As such, we can be strengthened to make our lives a sacrifice, finding joy that we are united to Christ, the Victim. As He bows His head in death, find companionship in your daily deaths to sin and self. In this moment, we see the folly of earthly things and reorder our passions toward what lasts. By his tomb, experience the friendship of the apostles, the Blessed Mother and the holy women. We pray for perseverance and pray for the souls in purgatory. Then, when we consider His glorious resurrection, be renewed by His promise: He will share with the faithful the fruits of His victory!

Since the Mass transports us to Calvary, we do well to focus on these things as we seek God's blessings from the Mass. When the Canon concludes, we shift our focus to immediate preparation for Holy Communion by means of repentance and praise. Receive the Sacred Host as from the angels and allow your meditation after Communion to center on conversation with Christ about the details of your life: sufferings, joys, graces, desires, faults, duties of vocation. ~Fr. O'Brien
