

Saint Patrick's Church in New Orleans

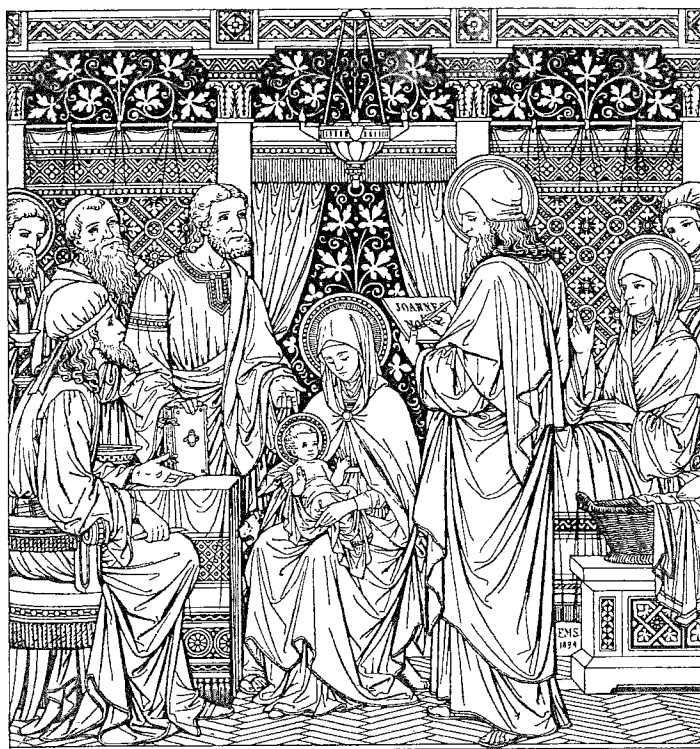

Monday 24 June 2024

De ventre matris meæ:

The Nativity of Saint John the Baptist

Traditional Latin Mass at 6:30 p.m.

at Saint John the Baptist Church

Ordinary of the Mass:

KYRIE, GLORIA, SANCTUS, and AGNUS DEI IV

CREDO III: red Traditional Mass booklet, page 56

Preface of Saint John the Baptist

... per Christum Dominum nostrum.
In cuius Præcursore beato Joanne tuam magnificentiam collaudamus, quem inter natos mulierum honore præcipuo consecrasti.

Qui cum nascendo multa gaudia præstitisset, et nondum editus exsultasset ad humanæ salutis adventum, ipse solus omnium prophetarum Agnum redemptionis ostendit.

Sed et sanctificandis etiam aquæ fluentis ipsum baptismatis lavit auctorem, et meruit fuso sanguine supremum illi testimonium exhibere.
Et ideo &c.

*... through Christ our Lord, in Whose Precursor, the blessed John, we praise Thy magnificence, even him whom Thou didst consecrate with particular honour among those born of women; who, when he had brought joy to many in his birth, and still unborn, had rejoiced at the coming of mankind's salvation, did alone of all the prophets point out the Lamb of redemption, but also washed the very Author of Baptism with the streams of water that were thus to be sanctified, and was found worthy to bear Him the supreme witness by the shedding of his blood.
And therefore, &c.*

Organ: Pavan
Rigaudon

William Byrd (1543-1623)
André Campra (1660-1744)

The music of this Mass is made possible by a generous gift from John, in thanksgiving for the intercessory prayers of his patron saint, St. John the Baptist.
On the Feast of the Beheading of the Forerunner in August 2022, John received emergency, life-saving surgery for a dissected aorta.

Please pray for our music sponsors and their intentions.