SERVITE DOMINUM IN TIMORE

This past June 24, our Holy Father, Pope Leo, delivered his fourth catechesis on the document Sacrosanctum Concilium. In it he points out to us that the sacred liturgy has the role of bringing many individuals into the one prayer of the Church. This is shown most powerfully by the Holy Communion we share; the sacrament brings the faithful into the Body of Christ. As His Holiness writes, "we become what we receive." This Body to which we belong is to be fulfilled perfectly in heaven, so our reception of Holy Communion also expresses our belief that we belong to a heavenly kingdom, a mystical body.

The Holy Eucharist is not only an expression of fellowship, but also where fellowship meets sacrifice. The people are drawn together with the priest as their head and "not only through the hands of the priest, but also with him" (SC, 48) the assembly offers sacrifice. It is proper to the ordained priest to offer the sacrifice of the Body and Blood to the Lord, and this is join to the sacrifice of laity who offer their lives as well. United in sacrifice, we experience a profound union with Christ and with one another. This is a powerful antidote to the forces of the world which reject sacrifice and foment division.

We must ever keep in mind that the offering of the Eucharist is joined to the offering of the Word of God, as we see in the first half of Mass. The two are so united that they form one single act of worship. By listening to the scriptures in the liturgy, we come to know God's Word as "living and effective," not just words on a page.

Next, the Holy Father invites us to think more deeply about the liturgy as prayer. We live in an era where efficiency and productiveness seems to be king. Some consider prayer pointless, while others reduce it to its social or personal benefit. All of this is at odds with a genuine liturgical spirit whereby prayer allows us to put God first, not any human concern. When we allow God to be primary in prayer, it becomes not so much a thing of utility, but a school which forms us for God's purposes. Being formed at this school of the liturgy, we are given access to the very life of God; we are lifted up from the confines of our creativity, and brought into the very prayer of Christ. In order for the faithful to fully engage prayer in this life, active participation in the liturgy was the great emphasis of the council fathers in this document.

The liturgy of Church encompasses more than the Mass alone. The council fathers encouraged the laity to join the clergy and religious in the divine office, the Liturgy of the Hours. By it, the voice of the Church is brought together even more frequently, and the prayer of Christ may issue from more and more hearts.

Just as the divine office sanctifies our day, morning, midday, evening and night, so too does the liturgical calendar sanctify the passage of days and seasons. The cycle of feasts shows us that Christ is still active in our time, as He renews the mysteries of His love before our eyes. The most fundamental element of this cycle is the Lord's Day, Sunday. The council called Sunday, "the original feast day." Sunday is our weekly Easter in which all times are united and undergirded by the recurrence of the hope we have received in Christ's resurrection. ~Fr. O'Brien
